Langford's Chance at English Title

Meets Hague Tonight in London-Sam the Favorite-Ernest Champlin Strokes Winning Syracuse Crew-Detroit Back in the Lead.

National Sporting club has been sold for tomorrow evening when Sam Langford, the colored man from Bos-Langford, the colored man from Boston, will make an attempt to win the title of heavyweight champlon of England from Ian Hague, who recently took it from Gunner Moir, and Jimmy Walsh, the American fighter, and Digger Stanley will battle for the bantamweight champlonship of England.

The big fellows will fight twenty rounds for a purse of $9,000, and the cantams fifteen rounds for $1.750.

Langford and Walsh have been training together at Stonebridge park and, with the small colony of Americans who have taken up their residence there, believe they have excellent chances of winning. Langford who will enter the ring at about 165 pounds, is giving considerable weight to Hague. Langford is a strong favorite in the betting, some wagers having been made at 5 to 2 on him to win. Not much money has been wagered at these figures, however, and it is likely that Hague's stock will improve when the Yorkshiremen arrive at the ringside and back their man.

Annapolis crossed the finish line winner by three lengths ever the Navy crew in a two mile race.

The winuning time was 10m. 29s., and that of the losers 10m, 42s. The Navy crew was rowed out, and several of its men were in evident distress.

The race was rowed under the roughest kind of weather conditions and was not started until 7.20 p. m. At the signal the navy boat was off with a jump that put it half a length ahead. It rowed at thirty, while Syracuse was doing thirty-two to thirty-three. For a time the Navy boat maintained its lead and the appearance was given of a keen contest. The splendidly coached Syracusans pulled ahead with a powerful and rhythmic stroke which they maintained to the end. They appeared heavier and stronger than the midshipmen, and rowed the latter to their limit. A call for a spurt a quarter of a mile from the finish met with a weak response, and the Syracusans increased their lead to the end.

Coach Ten Eyck was overjoved to have his Syracuse charges repeat the dose they gave the Navy last year.

The day safely copped Saturday night with a score of 118, but in the finish us core of 116.

Coach Ten Eyck was overjoyed to have his Syracuse charges repeat the dose they gave the Navy last year.

Without the least hesitation I can say that I learned more about umpiring the tors the game has ever seen. Without the least hesitation I can say that I learned more about umpiring the first two weeks with him than I and picked up in four years' service in the bushes.

The three best bits of swisdom of the many disclosed to me by this dean of the American league staff were of the American league stair were these:
"Never take your eye off the ball.
"Don't give your decisions too quickly; you have all afternoon."
"Never look for trouble. You'll find plenty of it without going around with a chip on your shoulder."
It's while working in the bush leagues that most umpires tire of the job and decide that it's safer and easier to make a living by going back to job and decide that it's safer and easier to make a living by going back to the rolling mill. As a judge with the minors, the umpire must expect to get a mobbing frequently. It would indeed seem strange to him after the home team had lost a close game if some director, who owned a couple of shares, falled to come to his drossing room and inform him that his place was at the ribbon counter. If he manages to get through the season without some hot-headed fan taking a punch at him, he at once decides that he was born under a lucky star. If he he was born under a lucky star. If he isn't blamed for the loss of every light game he immediately gives up thanks.
